

Noel Macainsh

THE STRINGS OF TOWNSVILLE – A CONCEPT

A simple project as a way of introducing Concept Art to the North.
The only materials needed are: a stout piece of string a great love of landscape and (desirable but not essential) a little experience in town-planning.
Here is the concept: A quadrilateral which is formed and enclosed by four pieces of string the first of which is run from a point half-way between a point half-way between the Townsville Post Office Tower (Flagpole) and the Garbutt Aircraft Warning Beacon and the midpoint of the West side and the Garbutt Aircraft Warning Beacon to a point half-way between the midpoint of the North side and the Kissing Point Flagpole, the second string being run from a point half-way between the start of the first string and a point half-way between the mid-point of the North side and the Garbutt Aircraft Warning Beacon to a point half-way between the Townsville Post Office Tower (Flagpole) and the Mount Stuart Television Tower and the midpoint of the South side, the third string being run from a point halfway between a point halfway between the start of the first string and the end of the second string
and a point halfway between the midpoint

of the West side and the Mount Stuart Television Tower to a point which is on an axis between the Mount Stuart Television Tower to a point half-way between the mid-point of the East side and the Kissing Point Flagpole where a string run from the Townsville Post Office Tower (Flagpole) to a point halfway between the midpoint of the East side and the Meatworks Chimney would cross that axis, the fourth string being run from a point equidistant from the end of the third string the end of the second string and a point halfway between a point halfway between the Townsville Post Office Tower (Flagpole) and the midpoint of the South side, a point halfway between the midpoint of the South side and the Meatworks Chimney to a point halfway between the start of the second string and a point where a string would cross the first string if it were run from the midpoint of the East side to a point halfway between the midpoint of the North side and the Garbutt Aircraft Warning Beacon.