

Helen Annand

TRESPASSER

Hey you, tomato what enticed you to spread your hairy feet in my geranium barrel, to force your yellow faces among my red and white, to steal my nourishment, make shiny green promises knowing you won't survive the first frost?

